DIARY NOTES

DD/S W

30 March 1965

1. [REDACTED] buzzed to say that the Clandestine Services had given [REDACTED] very careful consideration and that they believed it was not in the Agency's best interest to retain [REDACTED] on a contingency basis. They have no concrete requirement for it at this time, and if a requirement should develop they believe it would be possible to make some ad hoc arrangement on a military base or elsewhere without the substantial expense that would be involved in the maintenance of [REDACTED]

2. John Clarke told me that he might be interested in [REDACTED]. Therefore, I telephoned Packard and suggested that he call John directly.

4. [REDACTED] telephoned to request that a letter of condolence be drafted for the Director to send to [REDACTED] whose daughter was killed in Saigon. I suggested that we send an official representative to the funeral services instead. (Later in the day the White House made arrangements for the President to send [REDACTED] a letter of condolence.)
